February is American Heart Month

Heart disease is the leading cause of death in the U.S., but you can protet your heart by being physically active.

10 minutes at a time.

Life is busy, but your heart is important, Physical activity is a great way to protect your heart from heart disease, and you only need 10 minutes at a time to see the benefits. Try doing three of these activities (for 10 minutes each) 5 days a week to help your heart stay healthy.

- Walk briskly for 5 minutes, turn around and walk back - you're done!
- Dance to three songs.
- Park further from your destination.
- Take a bike ride.
